JOB DESCRIPTION

WEAPON ENGINEERING MECHANIC (RADIO)

NAME JONES A J

RATE WEAPON ENGINEERING MECHANIC RADIO 1ST CLASS

Additional Information Including Assessment of Service
Throughout Naval Career (with particular reference to the last
5 years of Service.

Weapon Engineering Mechanic JONES joined the Royal Navy in June 1984 and undertook training at HMS COLLINGWOOD. During his 5 years Service he has served in a number of posts, both ashore and afloat, where he gained valuable experience in maintenance and fault finding on complex units of electronic equipments.

Throughout his career JONES has been continuously reported on as a competent, hard working and useful mechanic carrying out all tasks given to him efficiently and conscientiously. He makes a good member of the team being loyal and supportive of his Superiors and contemporaries. His quiet friendly nature makes him a good mixer in both the working and social environments.

Although Weapon Engineering Mechanic JONES is leaving the Royal Navy early, he remains recommended for re-entry should he so wish. His personal qualities and professional expertise will offer much to commend him to a future employer.
